

Online survey: understanding preferences for advanced Parkinson's treatments

OPEN Health, on behalf of AbbVie, has designed a survey to understand preferences about different treatment options for advanced Parkinson's disease, such as infusion pumps or deep brain stimulation.

	WHY:	Your input may be used to inform future research in Parkinson's and be helpful to others in the future. The study may be published to communicate findings to the community.
	WHO:	The study is open to people with Parkinson's and care partners. Inclusion criteria for people with Parkinson's: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• 30 years old or older• diagnosed with Parkinson's in 2018 or earlier• experiencing at least 2 hours of OFF time each day• living in the United States Inclusion criteria for care partners: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• 18 years old or older• provide at least 12 hours of unpaid care per week to a person with Parkinson's• living in the United States
	What's involved:	You will be asked a few questions to see if you are eligible to take part. If you are, you will then be invited to complete a 30- to 60-minute online survey. Individuals who complete the online survey will be paid $75 for their time.

OPEN Health is working with Global Perspectives (an IQVIA company) for study recruitment and survey administration. People interested in participating may contact:
